

Long Term Disability Income Insurance

Help minimize the financial impact of a disabling illness or injury

What is Long Term Disability Income Insurance?

While hard to imagine, now is the right time to think about how to replace part of our paycheck when you're injured or ill and can't work. If your recovery time lasts longer than just a few short weeks or months, Long Term Disability Income Insurance can help replace part of your income for the duration of your disability or to normal retirement age.

How much coverage do I get?

Your employer believes in the importance of Long-Term Disability Income Insurance and is giving you the option to elect coverage in the following amount[s]:

Coverage amounts

60% of your monthly earnings,
up to $6,000 per month

Your policy has a waiting period of 90 consecutive days within 180 calendar days.

A waiting period is the amount of time that must pass before your benefits will begin. Any days that you are able to work after the start of your disability will not count towards your waiting (elimination) period.

Why should I consider supplemental coverage?

You can use the monthly benefit to help pay for things like medical bills, rent or mortgage, and groceries while you are disabled.

Payroll deduction means you don't have to worry about another bill.

Work with your own dedicated claim analyst throughout your leave.

Do I have to answer health questions to enroll?

You do not need to provide evidence of insurability to be covered. If you enroll in supplemental Long Term Disability Insurance the first time that it is offered to you (typically when you are a new employee), you will be guaranteed coverage up to $6,000 or 60%. Pre-existing condition limitations may apply. If you wait to enroll at a later time, Evidence of Insurability may be required where you will need to answer questions about your current and past health in order to be considered for coverage.

Any elections for new or increased coverage may require evidence of insurability.

When evidence of insurability is required, the insurance company needs to approve it before coverage becomes effective.

How much does it cost?

Rates shown are guaranteed until: 12/31/2028. Your contributions are deducted on a post-tax basis.

The cost is calculated based on your age at the start of the plan's current policy year.
